Supporting organic wineries in the modern era

Newsletter no 1

Overview of the 1st Year

Welcome to the WinEra 1st newsletter release!

For the past year, the partners of the WinEra project have implemented three transnational meetings at which representatives from all partner organizations attended. During the meetings, the consortium had discussed and presented the main aspects of the project, including its aims, objectives, and outputs. They elaborated on the methodological approach of each output, financial and technical aspects, as well as dissemination and identification of the expected target groups.

The main objective of these meetings was ensuring that a proper level of quality, communication and cooperation is achieved. After each meeting, the consortium agreed on the immediate activities and steps to be implemented, as well as the organization of the next transnational meetings.

Upcoming Activities

The WinEra partnership is now working towards the development of an online training course and platform, which will be open for farmers, entrepreneurs, trainers, and other interested groups or individuals involved in the process of organic and biodynamic wine production. The e-platform will include theoretical input and practical examples at all different stages of production and distribution: from harvesting through preparation and marketing of the product. It will also include suggestions for additional reading, case studies, self-preparatory tests, and interactive exercises. Stay tuned for more news and updates!
